Martin Marietta Materials' Vision to Create a Global Leader in Construction Aggregates

On December 12, 2011, Martin Marietta delivered a proposal to Vulcan and commenced an exchange offer to effect a business combination that would create a U.S.-based company that is a global leader in construction aggregates, with a footprint across North America. Bringing together two highly complementary aggregates producers is a compelling opportunity to enhance our competitiveness and growth potential for both companies' shareholders, customers, employees and communities.

This website provides information on our proposal and the actions we are taking so that it is fairly and objectively considered, including a proxy solicitation to elect four independent directors to the Vulcan Board. Act now and let your voice be heard, by electing independent directors who are committed to your best interests.

B. RECENT STEPS TO ADVANCE THE TRANSACTION

We feel strongly about the compelling rationale for combining Martin Marietta Materials, Inc. and Vulcan Materials Company and have privately discussed this opportunity at length and over time with Vulcan. However, Vulcan has ceased participation in these private discussions toward a negotiated transaction, which commenced nearly two years ago. After delivering our proposal and commencing our exchange offer on December 12, 2011, we have taken a number of steps to advance the transaction:

- On January 24, 2012, Martin Marietta delivered notice to Vulcan of its proposal to nominate independent director candidates for election to Vulcan's Board of Directors at Vulcan's 2012 Annual Meeting of shareholders, and filed a preliminary proxy statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with the proposal. The independent director nominees, if elected, will consider the proposed business combination objectively and in accordance with their fiduciary duties to Vulcan and Vulcan's shareholders.
- On February 10, 2012, Martin Marietta entered into an agreement with the U.S. Department of Justice with respect to the timing of steps to be taken in connection with the DOJ's review of Martin Marietta's proposed business combination with Vulcan.
- On April 25, 2012, Martin Marietta filed its definitive proxy statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with the solicitation of proxies for the election of four independent directors to the Vulcan Board at Vulcan's 2012 Annual Meeting of shareholders, and subsequently mailed to each Vulcan shareholder (as of the record date for the meeting) the proxy statement and accompanying BLUE proxy card or BLUE voting instruction form.

Martin Marietta's strong preference remains to execute this compelling strategic business combination on a negotiated basis with Vulcan's current Board of Directors. Martin Marietta's advisers, Deutsche Bank Securities Inc., J.P. Morgan Securities LLC and Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, are prepared to begin immediately the process of negotiating a definitive agreement. Martin Marietta believes it can complete due diligence, negotiate a definitive agreement and obtain final Martin Marietta Board approval quickly and stands prepared to provide reciprocal due diligence to Vulcan.

C. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS (FAQ)

General Questions

1. Why is Martin Marietta Materials proposing this combination with Vulcan Materials Company?

The combination of Martin Marietta and Vulcan is a compelling opportunity for both companies' shareholders, customers, employees and the communities we serve. By bringing together our highly complementary assets, we have the opportunity to create a U.S.-based company that is a global leader in construction aggregates, led by the best team in the industry drawn from both companies. The combined company will have one of the industry's strongest balance sheets and, as we achieve expected annual synergies of $200 to $250 million that we continue to believe can be achieved as a result of the combination, and as we continue to adhere to Martin Marietta's strict operational and financial discipline, the company will be well positioned to pursue a wide range of attractive growth opportunities and to continue delivering value to shareholders.

2. What would the combined company look like in terms of products and geographic reach?

The combined company would have an outstanding asset base, with over 28 billion tons of mineral reserves. We would have a broader geographic footprint with a global reach. Together we will be able to deliver greater scale, efficiencies and growth opportunities to make the combined company stronger and more competitive.

3. What would be the financial profile of the combined company?

The combined company will have one of the industry's strongest balance sheets and, as we achieve expected annual synergies of $200 to $250 million that we continue to believe can be achieved as a result of the combination, and as we continue to adhere to Martin Marietta's strict operational and financial discipline, the company will be well positioned to pursue a wide range of attractive growth opportunities and to continue delivering value to shareholders. In addition, the anticipated debt ratings for the combined company will be better than the ratings for Vulcan debt on a standalone basis. We also intend to maintain the dividend for the combined company at Martin Marietta's current rate of $1.60 per Martin Marietta share annually, or $.80 per Vulcan share annually, based on the proposed exchange ratio. This is twenty times Vulcan's current level.

4. What is the premium that Martin Marietta is offering Vulcan shareholders?

Our offer represents a premium for Vulcan shareholders of 15% to the average exchange ratio based on closing share prices for Vulcan and Martin Marietta during the 10-day period ended December 9, 2011 (the business day prior to the announcement of Martin Marietta's proposal) and 18% to the average exchange ratio based on closing share prices for Vulcan and Martin Marietta during the 30-day period ended December 9, 2011.

5. What are the expected annual synergies from the combination?

Based on our analysis to date, Martin Marietta continues to believe that it can achieve between $200 million and $250 million in expected annual cost synergies as a result of the combination, derived from a combination of improved purchasing efficiencies, operating efficiencies and the elimination of duplicative functions. With respect to the purported savings programs announced by Vulcan since December 12, 2011, Martin Marietta believes that Vulcan's programs will be far from fully effective, at best, for several years, and not necessarily sustainable, although they may result in some level of cost reductions during this period. Martin Marietta's belief is based on Martin Marietta's understanding of the design and attempted implementation to date of Vulcan's programs and Martin Marietta's experience in implementing its own fully operational management reporting system. Moreover, Martin Marietta believes that Vulcan's senior management lacks demonstrated capability and discipline to be credible to deliver Vulcan's "hope plan" on a standalone basis, leaving Vulcan shareholders exposed to substantial execution risk.

6. What additional steps is Martin Marietta taking to advance the transaction?

After delivering our proposal and commencing our exchange offer on December 12, 2011, we have taken a number of steps to advance the transaction, including: commencing litigation against Vulcan in Delaware and New Jersey to ensure that Vulcan shareholders have the opportunity to assess directly Martin Marietta's proposal; entering into an agreement with the U.S. Department of Justice with respect to the timing of steps to be taken in connection with the DOJ's review of Martin Marietta's proposed business combination with Vulcan; nominating four independent director candidates for election to Vulcan's Board of Directors at Vulcan's 2012 Annual Meeting of shareholders and commencing a proxy solicitation to elect such nominees.

7. Is Martin Marietta still interested in negotiating with Vulcan?

Yes. It remains our preference to engage in a productive dialogue with Vulcan to execute this very compelling business combination. We believe the strategic rationale of a combination is so compelling for all stakeholders that we took our offer directly to Vulcan shareholders, giving them the means to make their support of the proposed business combination known to the Vulcan Board. Vulcan shareholders can send a clear message to their Board through the election of Martin Marietta's independent director nominees – who are committed to looking out for shareholders' best interests and who will bring to the Vulcan Boardroom a fresh, independent perspective on Martin Marietta's business combination proposal.

Stakeholder Questions

8. Where would the combined company be headquartered?

Under our proposal, the combined company would be headquartered in Raleigh, North Carolina, where Martin Marietta is based, and maintain a major presence in Birmingham, Alabama, where Vulcan is based.

9. Who would lead the combined company?

We have the opportunity to create a U.S.-based company that is a global leader in construction aggregates, led by the best team in the industry drawn from both companies. Under our proposal, Ward Nye would serve as President and CEO, and Vulcan's Don James would serve as Chairman of the combined company. We will assemble a management team that includes executives from both Martin Marietta's and Vulcan's current management teams.

10. How would the business combination benefit Martin Marietta's shareholders?

Martin Marietta's shareholders would directly benefit by owning a global leader in aggregates. We continue to believe that the proposed business combination can achieve savings associated with anticipated annual cost synergies of $200 to $250 million. Additionally, the combined company's outstanding asset base and broader geographic reach will create value for shareholders over the short and long term, as greatly increased scale provides a broader set of opportunities for organic and inorganic growth. The combined company would also continue to have significant cash flow, a meaningful quarterly cash dividend and operate with strict operational and financial discipline.

11. How will the proposed transaction benefit Vulcan shareholders?

We believe that the combination will create significant value for Vulcan shareholders and give Vulcan shareholders a substantial ongoing equity interest in the combined company. The transaction would provide Vulcan shareholders with a premium of 15% to the average exchange ratio based on closing share prices for Vulcan and Martin Marietta during the 10-day period ended December 9, 2011 (the business day prior to the announcement of Martin Marietta's proposal) and 18% to the average exchange ratio based on closing share prices for Vulcan and Martin Marietta during the 30-day period ended December 9, 2011. Importantly, Vulcan shareholders will have the ability to participate in and benefit from the improved financial strength and flexibility of the combined company. We also intend to maintain the dividend for the combined company at Martin Marietta's current rate of $1.60 per Martin Marietta share annually, or $0.80 per Vulcan share annually, based on the proposed exchange ratio. This is twenty times Vulcan's current level.

12. Why is this proposed combination good for Martin Marietta's employees?

Our proposal represents a tremendous opportunity to bring together two American aggregates producers, to grow our business and enhance our competitiveness. Our assets and geographic footprints are highly complementary with relatively little overlap. As such, we will be in an excellent position to grow for the benefit of all our stakeholders, particularly our employees, who will have an even brighter future, with new opportunities for advancement and growth.

13. Why is this proposed combination good for Vulcan's employees?

The proposed combination would provide an opportunity for Vulcan's employees to become part of a larger, stronger organization, particularly as our two companies' assets and geographic footprints are highly complementary with little overlap. We have tremendous respect for Vulcan employees and would expect them to continue to play a significant role at the combined company, with new opportunities for advancement and growth.

14. How will the proposed transaction benefit customers and suppliers?

We believe that bringing together Martin Marietta and Vulcan would create a U.S.-based company that is a global leader in construction aggregates, resulting in a combined company that can deliver enhanced product offerings and service across a broader operational footprint. We will continue to be a great business partner to our suppliers.

15. Will there be any interruption in product deliveries or services?

Not at all. Martin Marietta will continue to operate as usual during this process, working hard to provide customers with the best products and service as always.

16. What does this mean for the Birmingham, Alabama community?

We are committed to maintaining a major presence in Birmingham and to being a positive corporate citizen.

Questions About Voting for Martin Marietta's Independent Director Nominees

17. Where can I find detailed information about Martin Marietta's solicitation of proxies for its four independent director nominees for election to Vulcan's Board?

For detailed information about Martin Marietta's solicitation, please see Martin Marietta's definitive proxy statement in connection with Vulcan's 2012 Annual Meeting of shareholders, which was mailed to holders of Vulcan shares as of April 20, 2012 (the record date for Vulcan's 2012 Annual Meeting of shareholders) and filed with the SEC on April 25, 2012. The questions and answers provided below regarding Martin Marietta's solicitation are for reference purposes only and do not serve as a substitute for the information contained in Martin Marietta's definitive proxy statement. Martin Marietta urges Vulcan shareholders to review Martin Marietta's definitive proxy statement for any questions they may have with respect to Martin Marietta's solicitation.

18. Why is Martin Marietta proposing its own slate of independent director nominees?

Martin Marietta believes that Vulcan shareholders should have the opportunity to realize the substantial immediate and long-term benefits of our proposed business combination. Martin Marietta believes, based on Vulcan's outright rejection of our proposal and refusal to engage with us to discuss our proposed business combination, that the current directors of Vulcan are not acting, and will not act, in your best interests with respect to our proposal. Martin Marietta's independent director nominees will bring a fresh, independent perspective on Martin Marietta's business combination proposal to Vulcan's Boardroom, although, if elected, our four independent director nominees will not constitute a majority of the Vulcan Board. The independent nominees have specifically acknowledged to Martin Marietta that there is not, and cannot be, any agreement between any of them and Martin Marietta regarding the decisions they will make as a director of Vulcan.

19. Why should a Vulcan shareholder vote for Martin Marietta's independent nominees rather than Vulcan's nominees?

Given the Vulcan Board's (including the four incumbent directors who are standing for reelection at Vulcan's 2012 Annual Meeting of shareholders) rejection of Martin Marietta's proposal and refusal to even discuss such proposal with Martin Marietta, the most effective way for Vulcan shareholders to realize the compelling benefits of our proposal and to have their best interests represented is to vote for Martin Marietta's independent director nominees. Our independent director nominees will, if elected, act in accordance with their fiduciary duties to Vulcan and Vulcan's shareholders and solely in Vulcan shareholders' best interests.

20. Are Martin Marietta's director nominees required to vote for the proposed business combination?

No. If elected, Martin Marietta's director nominees will act in accordance with their fiduciary duties under applicable law, and in the best interests of Vulcan's shareholders. Our independent director nominees have specifically acknowledged to Martin Marietta that there is not, and cannot be, any agreement between any of them and Martin Marietta regarding the decisions they will make as a director of Vulcan.

21. How many votes does a nominee need to receive in order to be elected?

It is not a specific number. The four nominees getting the four highest number of votes (in descending order) will be elected to the Vulcan Board.

22. What is the deadline to vote for Martin Marietta's independent director nominees?

- Proxies sent through the mail must be received prior to Vulcan's Annual Meeting, which is scheduled for June 1, 2012.

- All telephone and Internet voting for beneficial shareholders (those holding Vulcan shares through a brokerage firm, bank or other nominee) must be completed by 11:59 p.m., Eastern Time on May 31, 2012.
- All telephone and Internet voting for registered shareholders (those holding Vulcan stock certificates or holding shares directly) must be completed prior to Vulcan's Annual Meeting, scheduled for June 1, 2012 at 3:00 p.m., Central Daylight Time.

23. If all four of Martin Marietta's independent director nominees are elected, will that constitute a majority of the Vulcan Board?

No, the election of the four independent director nominees will not result in Martin Marietta's candidates constituting a majority of the Vulcan Board; however we believe it would change the dynamics of the Vulcan Boardroom and bring a fresh, independent perspective on Martin Marietta's business combination proposal.

24. How can I vote for Martin Marietta's independent director nominees?

Questions About the Exchange Offer

29. Where can I find detailed information about the exchange offer?

For detailed information about the exchange offer, please see the prospectus/offer to exchange forming a part of Martin Marietta's Registration Statement on Form S-4, filed with the SEC on December 12, 2011, as amended. The questions and answers provided below regarding the exchange offer are for reference purposes only and do not serve as a substitute for the information contained in Martin Marietta's prospectus/offer to exchange. Martin Marietta urges Vulcan shareholders to review Martin Marietta's prospectus/offer to exchange for any questions they may have with respect to the exchange offer.

30. Why has Martin Marietta commenced an exchange offer?

The purpose of the exchange offer is for Martin Marietta to acquire all of the outstanding shares of Vulcan common stock in order to combine the businesses of Martin Marietta and Vulcan. We believe the strategic rationale of a combination is so compelling for all stakeholders that we have taken our offer directly to Vulcan shareholders.

31. What consideration is Martin Marietta offering to Vulcan shareholders in the exchange offer?

Under the terms of the exchange offer, Martin Marietta is offering Vulcan shareholders 0.50 of a Martin Marietta share for each share of Vulcan common stock tendered — an immediate and significant premium based on pre announcement stock prices.

Additionally, consummation of Martin Marietta's proposed business combination would result in Vulcan shareholders:

- Collectively owning approximately 58% of the combined entity, becoming shareholders in a stronger, more competitive company with enhanced growth potential and greater efficiencies; and
- Receiving a dividend that is 20 TIMES Vulcan's current level, enabled by one of the strongest balance sheets in the industry.

32. Will I realize a premium on my Vulcan shares if I tender them?

Yes. Although our proposal is for a business combination whereby Vulcan shareholders would receive Martin Marietta common stock and thus would have the opportunity to participate in the future upside of the combined company, the offer still represents a premium for Vulcan shareholders of 15% to the average exchange ratio based on closing share prices for Martin Marietta and Vulcan during the 10-day period ended December 9, 2011 (the business day prior to the announcement of Martin Marietta's proposal) and 18% to the average exchange ratio based on closing share prices for the two companies during the 30-day period ended December 9, 2011. The exchange offer is subject to certain conditions, including the approval of the Vulcan Board, which are set forth and described in the prospectus/offer to exchange forming a part of the Registration Statement on Form S-4 filed by Martin Marietta with the SEC in connection with the exchange offer.

33. When is the exchange offer scheduled to expire?

The exchange offer is scheduled to expire at 5:00 p.m., New York City time, on May 18, 2012, which is the initial expiration date unless further extended by Martin Marietta.

34. Are there any conditions to the exchange offer?

Yes, the exchange offer is subject to certain specified conditions, which are described in the prospectus/offer to exchange forming a part of the Registration Statement on Form S-4 filed by Martin Marietta with the SEC in connection with the exchange offer.

35. How do I accept the exchange offer and tender my shares?

The exchange offer is subject to certain specified conditions, all of which must be satisfied or waived before tendered shares can be accepted by Martin Marietta. If you are a beneficial holder of Vulcan shares, meaning you hold your Vulcan shares with a brokerage firm, bank or other nominee, you should contact your brokerage firm, bank or other nominee to tender your shares. If you are a registered holder of Vulcan shares, meaning you have a stock certificate or hold your Vulcan shares directly, you can tender your shares by completing, signing, dating and returning the Letter of Transmittal that was enclosed in the prospectus/offer to exchange forming a part of Martin Marietta's Registration Statement on Form S-4 that you received.
